

Top Reasons to Become an Early Interventionist in Kentucky

Kentucky's Early Intervention System is a voluntary educational program for families of infants and toddlers, birth to three years of age, with disabilities or developmental delays. The foundation of early intervention is to support families in promoting their child's optimal development, facilitate the child's participation in family and community activities, and encourage the active participation of families in the intervention by embedding strategies into family routines.

Early Intervention services are provided by various discipline types, such as developmental interventionists, Licensed Professional Counselors, Occupational Therapists, Physical Therapists, Psychologists, Speech Language Pathologists, Assistive Technology Specialists, Physical Therapy Assistants, and Occupational Therapy Assistants.
